MORE TALK OF SARATOGA ROAD

A car load of cement and 200 cubic yards of gravel were delivered at the Saratoga Springs this week and are being used in lining the big 150 by 50 foot open air plunge now building. Ten men are busy mixing and pouring concrete.

In connection with this the following from a Salt Lake Sunday paper has local interest:

Interest is being revived in the building of a railroad seven miles long from the Orem road at Lehi to Saratoga Springs, where it is proposed to make a port on Utah lake to farmers in the vicinity of Mosida and also the different towns and villages on the west side of Utah lake, where there has been considerable development during the past two years. One of the considerations for the building of the road will be the growing of sugar beets on the west side of the lake and the water and rail transportation facilities will offer an inducement to the farmers.

Ross Beason, traffic manager of the Orem lines, who has been at the head of the association which has been promoting the building of the road, proposes that Saratoga Springs be made a summer resort in addition to the cattle point for all the business on the west side of the lake.

Before incorporation is had the engineers of the interested parties will make an investigation of the development and the business of the west side of the lake. It is proposed to capitalize the company at $100,000 for the building of the railroad and to increase the capital to care for the building of boats and steamers for service on the lake.

It was said by Mr. Beason that definite announcement as to the work of the company would be made within a few days.

SHAKESPEARE PAGEANT WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Most Unique Performance Ever Given in Lehi.

All over the United States events are being held in honor of Shakespeare's tercentenary. None will be more novel than the one to be given by the Seniors of the Lehi High School in Wines Pasture Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday night, when practically the whole High School will represent Shakespearean characters in sketches from Shakespeare's writings. Among the leading characters are Shakespeare, Reed Gardner; Witches, Ora Hackett, Mirl Clark and Genevieve Clark; Shylock, Austin Gudmundsen; Portia, Mildred Crabb; Falstaff, Lewis Jones; Lady Macbeth, Laverde Evans; Desdemona, Jennie Taylor; Othello, Barlow Fox; Rosalind, Winnie Evans; Malvolio, Millen Kirkham; Puck, Evans Gilchrist; Oberon, Arel Southwick; Titania, Ruth Knight; Theseus, Floyd Goates; Hippolyta, Leota Taylor; Bottom, Ira Holmstead.

These dream children of Shakespeare's brain will each give some characteristic bit of acting from the play in which he is found. Shakespeare who has been summoned from the witches cauldron will call up these characters and introduce them to the audience. Lastly Puck is summoned. Shakespeare commands him to bring forth the fairy train. Puck disappears among the trees and with one blast of his trumpet summons the fairy crew found in midsummer nights dream.

Oberon, king of the fairies and Titania, queen of the fairies, quarrel over a little changeling child. Because Titania will not give up the boy, Oberon decides to cast a charm over her. He commands Puck to bring him the flower, love-in-idleness. The juice of the flower is squeezed into Titania's eyes while she is asleep, and will cause her to fall in love with the first thing she sees when she awakes.

Meanwhile some Athenian mechanics have conceived the idea of preparing a play for the wedding of duke Theseus and his bride Hippolyta. Bottom is the leading character among them. He is a blundering sort of a fellow who twists his lines in an amusing way. He "sees a noise and hears a face," etc. Puck hovering near the fairy queen decides to have some fun out of these fellows who are rehearsing in the wood, where Titania lies asleep. He fastens a donkey's head on Bottom. The other mechanics are frightened away, but Titania, awakening at this moment falls in love with the monster.

The performance closes with Puck's farewell and a dance by the fairies. It is desired that the children attend Tuesday afternoon and the parents Wednesday evening. Everything will be free and those who do not wish to sit on the grass should bring sofa pillows.

WORLDTON'S GO EAST

Dr. and Mrs. F. D. Worlton left Wednesday afternoon for a month's trip east. Mrs. Worlton will stop off at Manassas, Colorado, where she will visit her parents, while the doctor goes on to Rochester, Minn., Cleveland, Ohio, Chicago and possibly Boston to do clinical work in various hospitals and medical colleges.

Nothing mysterious--nothing hard to understand-- about electric ranges.

—so easy—so clean—so economical—so cool and comfortable that women everywhere are cooking with electricity.
—just think how easy it is to operate a stove that requires only the turning of a switch to secure heat! Think how easy it is to cook with a range that doesn't require constant attention—no excess heat! No smoke! No fumes! And then, too, there's no more scouring and scrubbing to keep your cooking utensils clean and free from soot.
—the same current always produces the same temperature—therefore, other things being equal, your cooking is uniformly good.
—you'll cook so many things better than you ever have before; you'll appreciate quickly the ease and economy of operation of your new electric range; you'll like its cleanliness—its coolness—its adaptability—its ABSOLUTE SAFETY!

S. EPHRAIM JACKSON IS LAID TO REST

Funeral Services in Fourth Ward Church Largely Attended.

S. Ephraim Jackson passed away this morning after undergoing an operation for a growth of the stomach, say before.

Funeral services were held in the Fourth Ward meeting house Tuesday afternoon. Bishop John Stoker presided and the Fourth Ward choir furnished the music. The speakers were F. Noyes, A. R. Anderson, Bishop James H. Gardner, and Patriarch George Kirkham. Mrs. Thomas Kirkham and Miss Marie Nelson gave the invocation and Leonard Peterson the prayer. There was a large attendance and many beautiful floral tributes.

The following sketch of her life was read:

Christina Jorgenson, daughter of Jesse C. Jorgenson and Caroline Jorgenson was born July 9, 1854, in Julland, Denmark. Emigrated to Utah in 1862 coming in Van Cott Madison's company, arriving in the latter part of October, was married a member of the Mormon church after arriving in Ephraim. She and her family resided till coming to Lehi in 1874. She was married May 1874 to Ephraim Jackson, who with children, Mrs. Hagen Hanson, Mrs. Jackson and Ephraim Jackson, still survive. She also leaves a son, Mrs. N. C. Christensen of Lehi and Hans Jorgenson of Huntington.

Mrs. Jorgenson of Huntington, Mrs. Jorgenson and son George of Lehi and Mrs. Rebecca Matthews of Lehi came to attend the funeral.

MRS. LOUISE TURNER ANSWERS LAST CALL

Walked Across the Plains to Utah—Had Been an Invalid for Thirty Five Years.

Funeral services for Mrs. Louise Victoria Turner, widow of the late William Turner, were held in the 3rd Ward meeting house Sunday afternoon. Bishop Henry Lewis presided, and the ward choir supplied the music. The speakers were Parley Knudsen, Bishop Andrew Field, William Hadfield, George Kirkham and Enoch Russell. There was a duet by the Misses Lenore Fox and Marcella Johnson. William Thomas gave the invocation and W. W. Dickerson the benediction.

Mrs. Turner was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goody, early settlers of Lehi. She was born in London, March 4, 1841, and was baptized a member of the Mormon church in her girlhood. She came to Utah in 1861 walking from the Missouri River to Salt Lake City. She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Henry Lewis of Lehi and Mrs. George Davis of Brigham City, the children who survive are William, Bartle A., John H., Alfred and Edward.

She has been an invalid for the past thirty-five years, suffering patiently from partial paralysis, which made it most difficult for her to get around.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to thank those who so kindly assisted and showed their sympathy to our mother, Mrs. Louise V. Turner, in her recent illness and death.

UTAH LAKE CANAL BREAKS

When the water was turned into the Utah Lake Irrigation Co.'s canal last week the accumulation of tumble weeds at the entrance of the canal into the tunnel caused it to overflow, the banks and cut a deep ravine down in to Jordan River. So much gravel was washed down as to almost dam off the river and will have to be gotten out with teams and scrapers. It required a force of men and teams several days to repair the break.

BURGLARS TRY CO-OP STORE.

Sunday night some one tried all the doors and windows of the People's Co-op and again on Monday night C. D. Gray, the night watchman, made an investigation but could not learn the identity of the burglars.

MORE STATE ROADS OUT FROM LEHI

On petition of the Utah County Commissioners the State Road Commission has designated fifty miles more of State roads in Utah County. Most of it is leading out from Lehi.

The Cedar Valley road—Beginning at Lehi and running west to county line through Cedar Valley by way of Cedar Fort and Fairfield was designated.

Also Lake View and Vineyard road—From Provo to Pleasant Grove by way of Lake View and Vineyard.

The Utah county commission also petitioned that the road from Lehi, through Mosida, on the west shore of Utah lake, also be declared a state road, but the commission postponed action on this request until further investigation of the highway could be made by the state road engineer.

Considerable improvement work will be done on the new designated state roads this summer, according to State Road Engineer Morgan, as there is about $25,000 in the state road fund, for expenditure on the highways of Utah county.

CITY WATER TUNNEL NOW IN FIFTY FEET

Men Are in Solid Granite and Water Coming in From All Sides.

W. J. Gurney, Supt. of Water Works, Hyrum J. Evans, Lemuel Whitmore, David Holmes and Ford Roberts of Lehi and Willard Olson of Alpine have been working the past week developing the School House Springs, above Alpine, the source of water supply for the two towns.

They have now gone in fifty feet in an open cut and are just entering the solid granite rock and getting under cover at a depth of sixteen feet from the surface.

Water is coming in from all sides without apparently decreasing as yet the other springs. The work is below the main spring and running north. Mr. Gurney is confident from the work already done, he will be able to double the material supply of the springs and get all the water desired. He is now negotiating with the Utah Power and Light Co. to install a transformer near the springs and supply power with which to operate two chippie drills. When this is done, two or three shifts will be put on. The work is making the water supply more certain.
